To The Senior Class:

In looking back over the time we have spent here together, and that means six years for some of us, we realize that they have been pleasant years filled with accomplishment, but years that have flown all too quickly. Now as we approach the day when we shall say good-by to each other and to our beloved school, may this feeling of accomplishment dominate the spirit of the occasion and ameliorate the sadness of parting. May we look to the future with its promise rather than to the past with its fulfillment. May we always realize that our school and our friends and associates are contributors to this unborn future and no matter what honors and successes come to us in later years that somewhere in each day's action that they are with us in the moment of decision.

My wish for you, my friends, is that life will bring the truly good, and for me, that our paths may often cross.

CLASS HISTORY In our effort to push onward and upward, occasionally we are inclined to look backward. Our progress and success in the future are built upon the past.

As we peep into the covers of the history of the Senior Class of 1937 we see highlights which have added many fond memories to our lot of cherished possessions. September 16, 1937, dates the beginning of our history. It was on that day that Martin College received one of the largest Junior classes in her history.

Due to the kindness and friendliness of the teachers and Seniors, the Juniors soon adjusted themselves to their new environment. We took an outstanding part in athletics, music, glee club, dramatics, and crowded all of the clubs with Junior members.

One of the most gala events of the year was the Junior-Senior banquet. Another was the May Day festival in which sixteen Junior girls danced the May-Pole dance. Many enjoyable social events brought the school year to a close.

On September 22, 1936 we reunited as Seniors. Our class was lacking in quantity but not in quality. In reviewing this year's records we find in the members of the Senior class the spirit of willingness, loyalty, and co-operation in the various activities. As Seniors we have realized the duties and responsibilities that are ours and we have tried to accept them as Seniors should.

As the last pages of our Martin College history are being turned we see, on June 6, the Seniors donned in caps and gowns slowly marching down the aisle to fill their places at the baccalaureate sermon; and again on June 8, receiving certificates and starting out into another world with the love and inspiration of their Alma Mater, Martin College, in their hearts.

The very newest department and one which has caused a great deal of interest and activity at Martin is the Training School. It is composed of eighteen selected pupils of the second and fourth grades.

The supervisor and director of all its activities is Miss Ava E. Allen of Nashville who has had much training in the field of child education. She is a most capable teacher and one whom the children love dearly. The Training School provided a splendid opportunity for student practice teaching, and under the supervision of Miss Allen the girls received many helpful suggestions as to ways and means of correct presentation of material for child development.

As for the progress of the school itself, it is generally agreed that its members have received a comprehensive year's work not only in the fundamental subjects, but also in extra activities such as supervised play, dancing, dramatization, expression, music, and art. Some of the public performances include: The presentation of "The Town Mouse and the City Mouse", "The Elf Who Stayed Behind", selections given by the Rhythm Band and chorus, the Minuet, and numerous readings given in chapel and on college programs.

All in all, the Training School has been a huge success this year and its continuation will be a great asset to the College.

SATURDAY STUDENTS

One of the newest departments of Martin College was established for the benefit of the public school teachers of Giles and surrounding counties. This group which is known as "The Saturday Teachers" is made up of teachers in service who come to Martin College every Saturday for courses which include, History of Civilization, English Literature, Grammar, Education, and Geography. Their tutelage was under the direction of Miss MacFarlane, Mrs. Wright, and Dr. J. O. Kinnaman.

GO-GETTERS ALL!

On Commercial, on Commercial! Make that champion line!
Type your way to fame and glory, rhythmic and sublime!
Fingers flying, keys replying, accurate and true!
Three cheers for our Commercial, here's to you!

Our Departmental standard is set in the East, with work graded in the East. Our Certificates and pins for superior skill and superior speed come from New York, awarded by the Gregg people, themselves, the authors and founders of our professional being.

As a Department, we embrace the Gregg Credentials Plan in its entirety, as an essential part of the curriculum. As a Department, we have, without exception, entered the Annual International O.G.A. Contest, sending all work to New York for checking. Sheaffer-Gregg Pen Contest, Esterbrook Pen Contest, National Letter Writing Contests, Bookkeeping Contests, all have been entered.

On June 25, all qualified will enter the Fifth International Typing Contest, held in Chicago, to compete for international championship honors.

Armed with every available ounce of knowledge and skill of past and present, we move forward confidently with the life-stream, trusting our ingenuity to shape both skill and knowledge to meet any situation, to fit any design for living we are to know!

FINE ARTS

The Fine Arts Department has developed into one of the most outstanding departments of the college. This year there are more than forty-five students who are taking courses in this department.

Violin and art under the direction of Miss Teresa Patterson; Expression, Mrs. Sinclair Daniel; Piano and Voice, Miss Myrla Peck constitute the Fine Arts Department. There are also courses offered in Harmony, History, Music appreciation, Sight-singing, and Form and Analysis for those desiring college credit or certificates.

Last winter two recitals were given in which the students from the piano, voice, violin, and expression departments participated. In the spring Miss Doris Mason, assisted by Miss Anna Coble, contralto, gave her graduate piano recital. Miss Evelyn Largen gave a graduate recital in expression, assisted by Miss Evelyn Elam, soprano, and Miss Jean Smith, pianist.

Much credit is due to the Fine Arts Department and the entire school is proud of the excellent work they have done.

September, 1936 found nineteen bewildered Freshmen entering the Home Economic's Department of Martin College. They soon found that Home Economics consisted of more than dress making and cake baking. Under the supervision of Mrs. Walter B. Smith the courses of study included original designing, color harmony, dress construction, house designing and furnishing, budgeting, and house management, child care and training, experimental cookery and meal planning. In each course individual projects were planned and carried out.

One of the main projects of the department was the management of the tea room. This gave each girl of the Home Economics Class an opportunity to learn managing, buying, and selling. The class was hostess to several social occasions throughout the year. An exhibition was held the last week of school at which time the students displayed the products they had made during the year. Smocks, dresses, books, children's clothing, and numerous small articles were shown.

The new equipment which has recently been added to the department includes two electric stoves and indirect lights.

The Student Council is an active, essential organization of Martin College. This group of girls, chosen by the students, forms the executive body of the student government. These girls are confronted with problems formerly faced only by the faculty and so they, and through them, the other students, come to understand the wisdom of rules, all of which are made for their own protection.

The purpose of the student government is to train each student to be a better citizen, to equip her to live with others in a co-operative spirit. She is made to feel the responsibility that is hers; she is impressed with the importance of consideration for other people. Students under a government of their own learn to be self-reliant, dependable, trust-worthy. These qualities are undoubtedly requisites for successful living and so, surely, are invaluable lessons.

The Phi Theta Kappa is a Junior College Honorary Society whose aim is to promote scholarship, to develop character, and to cultivate fellowship among the students of the junior colleges of the United States.

In 1931 the Alpha Omega Chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa was established at Martin College. Forty-eight members have been elected. Students ranking high in scholastic work, possessing qualities of good citizenship and moral character are eligible for membership in the society. The members are elected by the faculty.

The main social event of this society is the Annual Phi Theta Kappa breakfast which is given on the last morning of school for all alumni and active members of the Alpha Omega Chapter.

This year this society joined the Book of the Month Club and presented the Martin College Library with several popular modern books.

Miss Meade has been the sponsor for the past five years.

Commercial Club is brand new! Born October, 1936, a club without a history, with a future that stretches to the stars!

Because we are loyal we stress loyalty. Because we are tolerant we stress tolerance. Because we know, that to be our biggest selves, we must, we pledge the best we have and are—to life!

"Flash! Martin College Commercial Club wins first prize, annual stunt night, against keen competition! With typewriters arranged in orchestral formation, white-shirted, black-skirted, tam-o-shantered drum corps gave performance to the tune of 'Parade of the Wooden Soldiers' placing laurels of victory unquestionably on their collective brow!"

The official handshakers of Martin College are the members of the Booster's Club. When visitors come to the campus, the Boosters introduce themselves and show them around.

The Boosters are at the height of their handshaking during the basketball season. They greet the visiting teams, show them to their rooms and insist that they make themselves comfortable by using everything from bath towels to face powder. Then they serve supper to both the visiting team and our Martin team. After we win the game, the Boosters serve refreshments to both teams.

It is the aim of every member of the organization to see that each guest receives a warm welcome, so that a visit to our school will always be keenly anticipated.

The Dramatic Club has proved an enjoyable, instructive activity of lasting value to every member. In addition to the actual experience of appearing on the stage the full and varied programs in the weekly meetings have offered a study of street and stage make-up, basic dance steps for choruses, amateur play production, outstanding contemporary dramatic figures, classical drama, and modern drama. At one meeting Mrs. Floyd Gilbreath, Pulaski clubwoman, reviewed "Idiot's Delight", Noel Coward's Pulitzer Prize-winning play of 1936; at another time Mrs. Daniel reviewed Maxwell Anderson's "Winterset" which won the award of the New York Critic's Circle.

Stage productions have been successful, financially as well as artistically. The season opened with a presentation of mock marionettes in "Little Red Riding Hood". The first play, "Bird's Christmas Carol" was presented just before Christmas. The next production was a beautiful Christmas pageant "The Light That Shone". During the second quarter "Hold Everything", a farce in three acts was given. The proceeds from this play were used to buy new stage scenery for the Dramatic Clubs of the future. Three one act plays were presented during the last quarter of the year.

The Tramps is the hiking club of Martin College. It has the largest enrollment of all the clubs. It meets almost every Saturday of the early fall, spring, and summer months to go on hikes to places like Hick's Cut, Fort Hill, Pigeon Roost, and Pond Hill.

After the hikers reach their destination, they cook their supper which consists of juicy broiled steaks, hot dogs, or hamburgers with buns, pickles, onion, pork and beans, cookies, fruits, and coffee. Needless to say the Tramps "go" for the food. After this main feature of the hike, the Tramps play games or sit around and talk, depending upon the quantity they have eaten.

Then the girls divide into groups and as they walk back to school they "get harmony" on everything from "Old Kentucky Home" to "Dinah". By the time they get back to school and see the other girls dressed for dinner they look very much like Tramps.

HOBBY CLUB

Floy Goolsby	President
Dorothy Fentress	Vice-President
Lucy Margaret Troxler	Secretary and Treasurer
Miss Mary E. Meade	Sponsor

The purpose of the Hobby Club outside of plying one's hobby is to "eat, drink, and be merry".

The meetings are held each Saturday night in the Hobby Club room, and there one may see anything from Miss Meade and her knitters to girls writing letters to "that One and Only". Two members are joint hostesses at each meeting.

The club stunt this year was a "Gypsy Twilight Scene" which was very beautiful.

In fact, there's no place to go that serves the purpose as well as the Hobby Club when one wants a bit of friendly comradeship and a cup of tea.

GLEE CLUB

The Martin College Glee Club has for several years held a prominent place in our school, town, and throughout the middle portion of Tennessee but it was not until this year that its reputation reached its height. It happened this way.

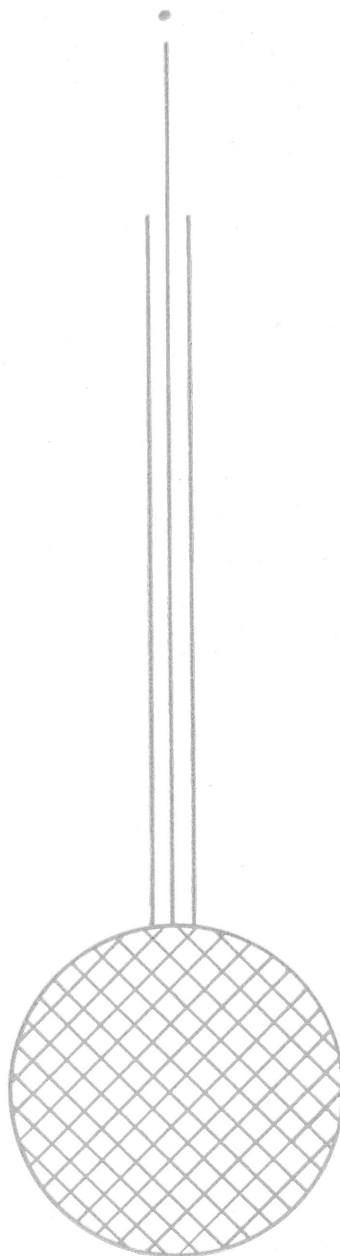

On Oct. 16th a group of twenty-eight very excited girls, Dr. and Mrs. Daniel, Mrs. Carr, the director, and Sinclair, left Martin College for the Texas Centennial at Dallas where they were to sing on Oct. 19th, "Tennessee Day", at the request of Gov. Hill McAlister. The trip included two broadcasts over W.M.C., Memphis, a ride to and from Dallas on a special coach via the Missouri Pacific R.R., two days of sight seeing at the Exposition, and the climax—the broadcast from 9:00 to 9:30 P.M. Oct. 19th from the Gulf Building on the Centennial Grounds.

At the second quarter Miss Myrla Peck came to Martin College to be the head of the piano and voice department as well as the director of the Glee Club. The first program after Miss Peck's arrival was a concert at the West End Methodist Church in Nashville which was followed by a thirty minute broadcast over WSIX. A secular program was given at the Spring Hill High School two weeks later. The glee club often gave sacred programs at the local First Methodist, First Presbyterian, and First Baptist churches.

BASKETBALL

Miss Bessie Gay, former Physical Instructor at Vanderbilt University came to Martin in September and assumed the roll as head of the Physical Education Department and it was under her capable coaching that we again put on the hardwood one of the outstanding teams of Tennessee. A team that won't be beat can't be beat might well be said of our '36-'37 squad. The record for the season included eleven victories and one defeat with a total of 436 points to 302 for the opponents.

Outstanding forwards for the season were: Junia Darwin, Rachel McClelland and Ray Moore. They were ably assisted by Dolores Fel' Dotto, Ada Frances Perry, Imogene Lester, Bess Bondurant, and Mary Howell. Defensively Floyd Goolsby, Anita Stephens, Anne Nickell, Bee Davis, Louise Dollins, Willie Ann Daly, Sue Bondurant and Dora Deane DePriest were tops. With Miss Gay urging them on, the basketball girls showed an unprecedented fighting spirit throughout the entire season.

All of the games that were played here in the Martin gymnasium were loyally supported by the faculty and student body. The girls were organized into a "pep squad" with Ruth Johnson as the very enthusiastic Cheer Leader and Martha Gowan and Hilda Baker as two very peppy Assistant Cheer Leaders.

The "pep squad" stood by the team, always urging them to fight, fight, fight! They were proud of their team not only because it was a winning team but because they always played the game fairly and squarely and never gave up.

TENNIS

At the beginning of the school year the girls at Martin are always greeted by two grand looking tennis courts. The girls do not waste any time getting the benefit of the courts either. From the very first day of school until cold weather the courts are "taken".

With the coming of spring the girls start playing with even more enthusiasm than they had the autumn before for they are practicing for the Annual Tennis Tournament which is to be held in May. Nearly every girl in the school enters into the tournament.

The tournament is to be held after this has gone to press so we cannot give the winners. There will be a single's champion and double's champion honored by the school as a result of the tournament.

1st Row—K. Crow, Sutton, Beard, Johnson, Nickell, Harwell, Dowlen, Hilliard, E. Crow, Daniel, Warren, Fentress.

2nd Row—Humphrey, Stephens, B. Bondurant, Deuser, Daly, Starnes, Lester, Collins, L. Stanfield, Gann, A. Stanfield, J. English, McClelland, A. English.

3rd Row—Taylor, Smith, Bristow, Dollins, J. Marsh, Coble, Goolsby, Davis, Winstead, Bost, Paisley, Buford, Darwin, S. Bondurant, Fel' Dotto, Cole.

Of the many sports in which the girls of Martin College participate the one which they take part in for the sheer enjoyment of the game alone is softball. With the coming of spring the girls seem to have an unconquerable desire to knock balls. Out come the bats and balls from their winter hiding places and the fun begins.

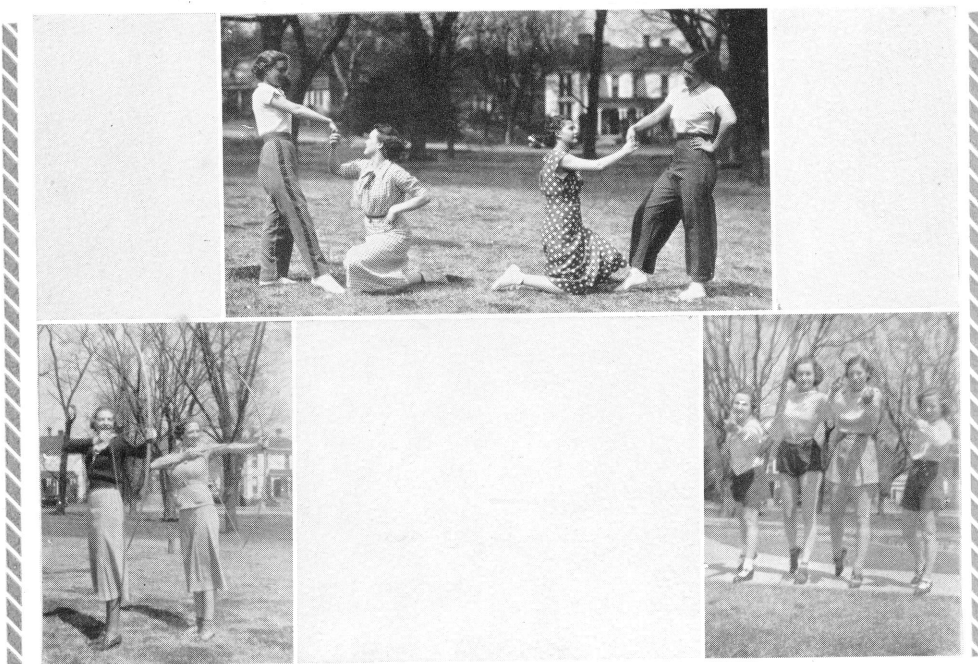

The girls choose sides and challenge each other for games. They enjoy these games so much that they feel that they must have more space for their excellent batters, so they have some of their games down in the Sam Davis Ball Park.

////// PHYSICAL EDUCATION ////

Miss Bessie Gay, director of physical education at Martin College this year gave instruction in many different types, so that the girls would have an opportunity to receive instruction in whatever field of physical education that they preferred. Each quarter there was instruction in one or two new types so that the students might take part in several sports if they wished.

The courses offered during the year were tennis, softball, beginner's tap, advanced tap, folk dancing, minor sports, and interpretative dancing.

Tennis for beginners included a thorough understanding of the rules of the game and supervised practice in the correct form and strokes.

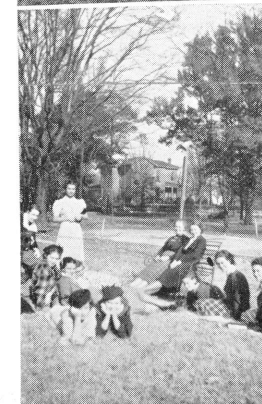

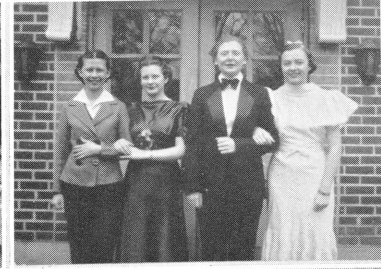

Softball was carried on in practically the same manner with probably more stress on practice than theory.

Minor sports included many games such as dodge ball, soccer, volley ball, relay races, and hobby.

Although there was no regular course in archery, Miss Gay gave instruction to all who were interested in "hitting the bull's eye".

Of all the courses, however, dancing was the most popular. Instruction in dancing is new at Martin College, and the girls took advantage of their opportunity.

As a result of Miss Gay's efforts and the girls interest in dancing, the Annual May Day Festival was given entirely in dance.
